What are Bases?

It's impossible for paint stores to stock every color of paint. However, a paint store can mix any paint color for you while you wait, thanks to paint bases. An endless spectrum of paint colors can be created by mixing specific quantities of one or more colorants with a tint able paint base. Paint bases range from white to black, creating paint colors to accommodate any painting project.

- White is generally used for lighter colors
- Accent is used for your medium colors
- Neutral base is used to make very dark colors or vibrant colors
- Hi-C Red is used for bright shades of reds
- Hi-C Yellow is used for bright shades of yellow
- Hi-C Blue is used for bright shades of blue
- Black is used for very dark colors

What are the differences in sheens or finishes?

- Matt finishes have virtually no gloss and are excellent in terms of hiding surface imperfections and any underlying colors. They do a less-than-desirable job, however, of providing stain resistance, so they should be used in more formal rooms that receive minimal traffic.
- Low Sheen finishes deliver a shinier looking, "warmer" finish than matt paints. Low Sheen paints do a good job in terms of hide (or coverage), as well as offer stain and scrub resistance qualities. This makes them ideal for living rooms, dining room, hallways and bedrooms.
- Semi-gloss finishes enhance a room by their shiny, "rich and lustrous" look. Semi-gloss paints offer excellent stain and scrub resistance and therefore are ideal for all rooms, including kitchens and bathrooms; they are also ideal for use on trim.
- Gloss finishes offer the shiniest of all finishes. They also deliver the best performance in terms of stain and scrub resistance and are ideal for use in high traffic areas that experience a lot of wear and tear, such as garages, utility rooms, recreation rooms, trim and doors.

Please choose you bases and finishes carefully as the incorrect base would mean you might not be able to tint your paint in the color you would like.
